Sections 6(3) and 8(2)

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

There are considerable delays in the disposal of criminal cases arising out of communal disturbances. The National Integration Council had, in 1968, considered the problem and had recommended that Special Courts with summary powers to deal with the offences connected with communal disturbances should be constituted. Under the existing law it is only a small number of minor offences which can be tried in a summary way in accordance with the procedure laid down in Chapter XXII of the Code of Criminal Procedure. It is necessary to provide that cases relating to specified offences, arising out of differences between different religious, racial, language or regional groups or castes or communities, may be triable (a) by Special Courts, and (b) according to a quick and effective procedure.

2. The Bill seeks to achieve the above object.

NEW DELHI; The 24th May, 1972. R. N. MIRDHA,

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 4 of the Bill provides for the constitution of as many Special Courts as may be necessary for the speedy trial of scheduled offences committed in disturbed areas. A Special Court shall consist of a single judge who is, or has been, or is qualified for appointment as a judge of a High Court or who has been for over a year a Sessions Judge or an Additional Sessions Judge. The expenditure in respect of Special Courts constituted for Union territories will be from and out of the Consolidated Fund of India. This expenditure will be of a recurring nature only and is not likely to exceed Rs. 26,000 annually.

The provisions of the Bill do not involve any expenditure of a non-recurring nature from the Consolidated Fund of India.

BILL No. 62 of 1972

A Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code, the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 and the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Twenty-third Year of the Republic of India as follows: --

1. This Act may be called the Criminal Law (Amendment) Act, 1972. Short title.

153B(2)	Imputations, assertions prejudicial to national integration in lace of public worship, etc.	Ditto	Ditto	Ditto	Ditto	Impri- son- son- ment of either descrip- tion for five years and fine.	Ditto."

4. In the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967, for clause (g) Amendof section 2, the following clause shall be substituted, namely:—

ment of Act 37 of 1967.

- (g) "unlawful association" means any association-
- (i) which has for its object any unlawful activity, or which encourages or aids persons to undertake any unlawful activity, or of which the members undertake such activity; or
- (ii) which has for its object any activity which is punishable under section 153A or section 153B of the Indian Penal Code, or which encourages or aids persons to undertake any such activity, or of which the members undertake any such activity:

Provided that nothing contained in sub-clause (ii) apply to the State of Jammu and Kashmir.'.

45 of 1860.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Drills, exercises and other similar activities organised by communal and other divisive forces cause apprehension, fear or a sense of insecurity amongst members of the affected communities and also affect prejudicially the maintenance of public tranquillity. Propaganda imputing that the members of any particular community cannot be patriotic or asserting that members of any particular community should be denied or deprived of their rights as citizens of India and propaganda regarding tht obligations of any class of persons, by reason of their being members of any religious, racial, language or regional group or caste or community, would be prejudicial to the maintenance of communal harmony and to the integrity of the nation. It is, therefore, considered necessary to make specific provisions in the Indian Penal Code to deal with persons engaged in such activities.

- 2. Though action can be taken under the existing law against individuals for activities promoting enmity or prejudicial to the maintenance of harmony between different groups on grounds of religion, race, place of birth, residence, language, etc., there is no provision for dealing effectively with an association which has for its object such objectionable activities. In order to curb the objectionable activities of such associations, which pose a serious challenge to the integrity of the nation and the maintenance of harmony between different communities, it is also considered necessary to enlarge the scope of the definition of "unlawful association" in the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967.
 - 3. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects.
